TAFTVILLE

Samuel Armitage Re-elected President of Cornerstone Club—Persons and Notes of Interest.

The Cornerstone club held an interesting meeting Monday evening with President Samuel Armitage in the chair. The reports of the officers were heard and show the club to be in excellent condition. Several new members were admitted to the club and during the evening H. Heinrich tendered his resignation as musical director of the club, but this matter will not be acted upon until the next official meeting. Plans for a private banquet and social were discussed and it was decided to hold it during the latter part of February. After the regular routine business, the annual election of officers took place. President Armitage was unanimously re-elected, and other officers elected as follows: Secretary, Robert B. Bailey; treasurer, Richard Heberding; auditors, Fred Knowles and Harry Gervey. The past year has been very successful under the leadership of President Armitage and the prospects for the coming year are very encouraging. After the business session, a social hour was enjoyed and light refreshments of ice cream and cake served by the committee in charge.

Entertained Friends.
Miss Lena Wolsard entertained a number of her friends in the St. Veronica T. A. rooms Saturday evening. Games were played during the evening and refreshments were served.

USING GALLAUDET AEROPLANES

New York National Guard Operating Two at Plattsburg—At Aviation Training School—Machines Have Flown Nearly 10,000 Miles Since Leaving Thamesville Works.

Newspaper announcements on Monday that the aviation school of the New York national guard was a member of the syndicate which took the Gallaudet aeroplane to the business men's camp at Plattsburg last summer. This undertaking was most successful, the machine making 52 flights between August 15th and September 5th, at an average of 15 miles per flight.

In October, when it was beginning to seem best to close the Gallaudet training school at Garden City for the winter, Mr. Bolling suggested that the signal corps of the New York national guard take over the entire Gallaudet outfit as a training school for national guard members. This arrangement was made because the Gallaudet school had been in constant service, making about 200 flights between November 1st and the present date. The two machines referred to have been regularly in service since they left the Gallaudet plant at Thamesville in January, 1915, and together have flown nearly 10,000 miles. The aviation school of the

New York national guard, using the Gallaudet machines, is the first aviation training school to be established by the national guard of any state.

Connecticut's Opportunity.
Many states it has been announced are to establish sections to the militia but Connecticut is not one of the number though Rhode Island is mentioned.

It was pointed out on Monday evening by a Norwich man interested in aviation that Connecticut has a unique position and what can easily be a highly important position in relation to the aviation plan for national defense. Long island sound, a land-locked body of water, guarded at its eastern entrance by the powerful forts on Flaters island, and adjacent islands, forms the southern coast line, along which are important cities with harbors. Seaplanes stationed at any of these harbors would be a half hour flight to the open sea where they could operate in the air with any naval or land plan of defense. The sound itself would be an ideal course for the development of the seaplane and the state would possibly be the best situated of any state in the Union to undertake this important service. Though in a protected position it is yet a most important position in the development of the sea plane it would be rendering a highly valuable service. It is understood that $100,000 is to be devoted to this project.

MEN'S BIBLE CLASS

AT Y. M. C. A.

Discussion On "Is It Right to Have a Good Time?"

Monday night at the Y. M. C. A. building the regular session of the Men's Bible class was held and a good sized group of men was present. The subject of the study was "Is It Right to Have a Good Time?" The Scripture selected was Phil. 3:3 "Finally, brethren, whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report, think on these things." The following points were brought out in the study of the subject. The real purpose of a good time is relaxation in order to ease the strain on body and mind. Relaxation in order to rebuild the wear and tear. Too often the so-called good time is dictated by the lower nature rather than the higher. Relaxation is disastrous to both body and soul. Ofttimes a fellow has a good time in utter disregard of the rights of others when one takes a good time which is liable to lose his capacity to enjoy real pleasure; his conscience is silenced, his spirit is swamped and his principles broken.

A really good time means to have a good conscience, to hold to the highest and to insist that one's conduct be on a level with our best natures, and to see to it that our pleasures cause pain to no one.

QUADRUPLE FUNERAL

IN JORDAN CHURCH.

Held for Deceased Members of One Waterford Home.

One of the most unusual funeral services ever held in this part of the state took place at the Jordan church Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock, when the last rites were solemnized simultaneously for Mrs. Mary A. Munger, Mrs. Lavina Matthews, Mrs. Elvira S. Daniels and Mrs. Mary Chapman, all of whom died within three days in a single Waterford home. In each instance the deceased was 94 years of age. The services, which were of simple character, were impressively conducted by Rev. Percy R. Wolfenden, Rev. Walter E. Gray of Natick.

The church was filled with sorrowing relatives and friends and there was a profusion of beautiful tributes. During the service the congregation joined in singing the hymn Hark, Hark, My Soul. Burial was in Jordan cemetery.

The late Mrs. Chapman was 94 years of age. Mrs. Matthews 86, Mrs. Munger 75 and Mrs. Daniels 71.

FORMER YANTIC RECTOR

Memorialized in Beautiful Reredos in Plymouth Church—Rev. H. L. Mitchell's Heroism Recalled.

In St. Peter's Episcopal church, Plymouth, Conn., a beautiful reredos elaborately carved and gilded, depicting the heroism of Rev. H. L. Mitchell, has been installed, and is the gift of Mrs. Herbert L. Mitchell of Portland, Conn., in memory of her husband, the late rector of St. Peter's, who was drowned several years ago off Fisher's Island in trying to save the life of the organist of the church. The reredos carries two plates, inscribed as follows:

Greater Love Hath No Man
Than This
That a Man Lay Down His Life for His Friend.
Saint John, 15:13.

In Loving Memory of the Reverend Herbert L. Mitchell
Rector of This Church
Drowned August 1, 1908

Rev. Mr. Mitchell was at one time rector of Grace church, Yantic.

Mr. Went-And-Cut-It

—Here's Mr. 'Gets-It'

The New Plan Corn Cuts That's as Safe as the Rising Sun.

"Glad to meet you!" says the razor to the corn. "Till bleed for you!" says the corn to the razor. Razors and corns love each other. Corns love to be cut.

"Why, O Why, Did I Do It? 'Gets-It' for Me After This—It I Live!"
be cut, picked, gouged, saved, plastered and jerked out—they grow faster. Mr. and Mrs. Went-And-Cut-It realize it now—they use "Gets-It" instead—it's the wonderful, simple, corn-cure that never fails. Stops pain. You apply it in 15 seconds, and at once, the corn is doomed. Nothing to stick to the stocking or press on the corn. It means good-night to plasters, dressers, razors and toe-bundling. You can wear smaller shoes. Your corns will come right off, "clean as a whistle." Never inflames healthy flesh. The world's biggest selling corn cure.
"Get-It" is sold by druggists everywhere, 25c a bottle, or sent direct by Lawrence & Co., Chicago, Ill.

POMOLOGISTS TO BE IN SESSION.

The completed programme for the 25th annual meeting of the Connecticut Pomological society at Foot Guard armory, Hartford, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of this week, offers a large number of practical and interesting addresses.

Combined with the meeting of the fruit growers will be the annual meeting of the Connecticut Vegetable Growers' association, and on the afternoon of each day the two organizations will hold joint sessions.

The meeting of the Pomological society will open with the address of President Stancil Hale of Glastonbury Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock. Secretary H. C. Miles of Milford and Treasurer Minor Ives of Meriden will make their reports and various standing committees will make reports.

At the afternoon session Tuesday at 3 o'clock Dr. William E. Britton of New Haven, state entomologist, will report on Injurious Insects During the Season of 1915. Dr. George P. Clinton of New Haven, state botanist, will report on Fungous Diseases in Connecticut.

The Pomological society will hold a lecture on the Year in Fruit Growing and Marketing. E. M. Stoddard of New Haven, assistant botanist, Connecticut experiment station, will speak on Some Results of Orchard Visitation at the Connecticut Experiment Station.

Historical Address.
The session Tuesday evening at 7:30 will open with remarks by visiting delegates. The H. William of West Hartford, with accompaniment of Miss Gladys Schaffner, Mrs. Robert Williams of Wallingford will give readings of historical addresses.

Twenty-five years of Connecticut Pomology will be made by Norman S. Platt of New Haven, J. H. Hale of Hartford and J. H. Norris of Wallingford. W. A. Cook, county agent for Hartford county, will speak on What the Farm Bureau May Do for the Connecticut Pomologist.

Wednesday morning the session will open at 9:30. There will be three addresses. Prof. J. P. Parrott, entomologist, will speak on the Year in Fruit Growing and Marketing. Geneva, N. Y., will talk on Spraying Practices in New York State. J. H. Putnam of Greenfield, Mass., county agent for Franklin county, Mass., will speak on Profitable Small Fruit Culture in New England. John J. Dillon, commissioner New York state department of agriculture, will speak on What New York State is Doing to Solve the Problems of Fruit Marketing and Distribution.

Joint Session.
At the joint session Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 President W. H. Burr of the Vegetable Growers' association will speak. L. Willard Minch of Bridgton, N. J., vice president of the New Jersey State Horticultural society, will give an illustrated address on Truck Farming in South Jersey. The Minch brothers have 900 acres under cultivation. Dr. E. H. Jenkins, director of the Connecticut Experiment station, in his address on Feeding Fruit and Plants Under Present Day Conditions, will tell the fruit growers and vegetable growers how to fertilize their crops under the war time scarcity of materials. Howard W. Selby of Bustleton, Pa., will give Some Phases of the Marketing Question.

The anniversary banquet will be held at Hotel Garde Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock. Dr. E. H. Jenkins will be toastmaster. The speakers will include Dairy and Food Commissioner Frank H. Stannard, pastor of the Asylum avenue Baptist church, Hartford.

Thursday morning at 9:30 C. E. Hough, director of the Washington, Conn. Fruit Growers' association, will speak on Co-operative Fruit Growers' Association and What It Has Accomplished. Dr. Charles D. Woods, director of the Maine Agricultural Experiment station, will speak on Work and Results in Highmower Farm Orchards. There will be five-minute talks on Personal Problems of the Practical Fruit Grower by G. A. Drew, C. L. Gold, W. H. Baldwin, H. H. Lyman and N. H. Barnes.

Election of Officers.
At the joint session Thursday afternoon at 1:30 the Pomological society will elect officers. Lewis L. Morrill of Kinderhook, N. Y., will speak on How One Grows Solves the Marketing Problem. C. W. Prescott of Concord, N. H., president of the Massachusetts Asparagus Growers' association, will speak on Asparagus Growing. Mr. Prescott has 25 acres in asparagus.

There will be a question box and as opportunity occurs many practical questions will be answered. In connection with the meeting there will be an extensive exhibition of Connecticut's best apples. All the meetings will be open to the public.

Willimantic Secretary Will Be Speaker.
General Secretary Docile of the Willimantic Y. M. C. A. is to be present and make a brief address when the regular monthly meeting of the Women's auxiliary is held this (Tuesday) evening at the home of Mrs. B. P. Bishop of 180 Broadway. The regular business will also be transacted and the women who wish to attend will be welcome.

It Is Now a Season of Agreeable Surprise Prices At This Store

And the Advantages Are All With Our Customers

In many parts of the store odd small lots of seasonable merchandise—goods assembled during the inventory period—are now being closed out at ridiculously low prices. These lots are too small and too numerous to enumerate, but they are laid out conspicuously on display so that everyone can readily see them—and buy them. When you are down town this week drop in and look around—see if there are not many little things (or big things) which you can buy and save money on your purchase.

SPECIAL SALE OF WASH GOODS
It will be continued today and all this week. 4000 yards of new, fresh merchandise, at a big saving in price.

TWO SPECIAL LOTS, AS FOLLOWS

1500 yards of Duchesse Plisse, 24 inches wide, in solid colors only, but in a wide range of shade—this is regular 12½c Wash Fabric—7½c

2500 yards of Windsor Plisse, 24 inches wide, in a broad range of styles and colorings—this is a remarkable offering of regular 15c Wash Goods—10c

With Cotton Goods advancing in price all the time these values are really extraordinary, and prudent people are taking advantage of the opportunity to lay in a stock.

SECRETARY HINE BEGINS HIS LECTURE COURSE.
Speaks to Norwich Teachers Upon Subject of School Administration.

C. D. Hine of Hartford, secretary of the Grand Army of the Republic, will begin his series of ten lectures in the extension course for school teachers on Monday afternoon at Broadway school. There was a large attendance at four o'clock when Secretary Hine began his lecture, which was the first in the course upon School Administration.

Part of the hour which is given up each Monday afternoon to the course is occupied by the teachers in making out papers which relate to their readings. Secretary Hine will be followed at the same time as they are taking the course.

The council of administration for the Grand Army of the Republic has decided that the next encampment in Connecticut of the Grand Army will be held in Guilford, April 12-13.
